

Bloomberg Philanthropies

Asphalt Art Initiative Round 2 Grantees

Atlanta, Georgia “Boulevard Granada Tactical Walk Lane and Artistic Crosswalks” – Conversion of a parking lane to a quick-build sidewalk on a street connecting public transit, local businesses, and a school in Adams Park.

Mayor Keisha L. Bottoms, City of Atlanta Department of Transportation, Pillyr Foundation

Baltimore, Maryland “Bee Safe: Enhancing Intersection Safety and Placemaking in Johnston Square” – Traffic calming at three intersections adjacent to an elementary school in Johnston Square.

Mayor Brandon Scott, ReBuild Johnston Square Neighborhood Organization, Baltimore City Department of Transportation, MICA Center for Social Design.

Billings, Montana “North Park Art Connection” – A series of crosswalks and a large street mural connecting the North Park neighborhood with a commercial district in the city’s core.

Mayor Bill Cole, Billings Industrial Revitalization District, City of Billings Department of Public Works

Birmingham, Alabama “Anchoring Past and Present” – Revitalization of a plaza and intersection improvements to create a neighborhood hub near Smithfield Court public housing and a local library branch.

Mayor Randall Woodfin, City of Birmingham Department of Transportation, Create Birmingham, Birmingham Public Library

Chicago, Illinois “WA|K-H: Gateway to North Lawndale” – Community-designed interventions at an intersection at the entrance to the North Lawndale neighborhood.

Mayor Lori Lightfoot, School of the Art Institute of Chicago, North Lawndale Community Coordinating Council, City of Chicago Department of Transportation

Denver, Colorado “Westwood Linear Mercado and Community Space” – Transformation of a triangular intersection into a community plaza in the Westwood neighborhood.

Mayor Michael B. Hancock, City & County of Denver Department of Transportation & Infrastructure, BuCu West Creative District

Detroit, Michigan “Redford Triangle Pedestrian Plaza” – Creation of a new pedestrian plaza in the Old Redford neighborhood in Northwest Detroit.

Mayor Michael E. Duggan, Sidewalk Detroit, City of Detroit Department of Public Works, Planning and Development Department, and Office of Arts Culture and Entrepreneurship

East Providence, Rhode Island “Mercer Street Crosswalk and Intersection Murals” – Intersection and crosswalk murals along a street that divides an elementary school from the city’s primary recreation and historic athletic field complex.

Mayor Roberto DaSilva, City of East Providence Department of Planning and Economic Development, City of East Providence Department of Public Works, East Providence Arts Council

Fairbanks, Alaska “FBX ParticiPaints” – demonstration of vehicle lane removal for expanded walking/biking space and green streetscaping on two downtown thoroughfares in advance of future capital construction.

Mayor Jim Matherly, Fairbanks Surface Area Transportation (FAST) Planning, City of Fairbanks Engineering & Public Works Department, Downtown Association of Fairbanks

Houston, Texas “Gulfton Safe Streets” – Artistic activation of recent safety enhancements at a key intersection in the Gulfton neighborhood.

Mayor Sylvester Turner City of Houston Public Works, My Connect Community, Southwest Management District

Huntington, West Virginia “Huntington HIP Asphalt Art Project” – Crosswalk art at two intersections and two connected crosswalks in the Fairfield, Highlawn, and West End neighborhoods.

Mayor Steve Williams, City of Huntington Department of Public Works, Huntington Mayor’s Council on the Arts

Kansas City, Missouri “Strengthening Vision Zero through Creative Placemaking in KCMO” – Safety improvements will be enhanced with asphalt art at multiple intersections as part of the city’s Vision Zero initiative.

Mayor Quinton Lucas, Street Smarts Design + Build, City of Kansas City, Missouri Public Works Department, Kansas City Artists Coalition

Kodiak, Alaska “The Heart of Kodiak” – Intersection mural to welcome workers and visitors to the heart of the city’s historical center and tourist district.

Mayor Pat Branson, City of Kodiak Department of Public Works, Kodiak History Museum, Kodiak Arts Council

Long Beach, California “Washington Neighborhood Community Corners” – Traffic-calming curb extensions with community-driven art at an intersection near two schools in the Washington neighborhood.

Mayor Robert Garcia, City of Long Beach Public Works Department, Arts Council for Long Beach

Memphis, Tennessee “Pedestrian Safety on Highland St.” – Traffic-calming sidewalk expansions along a busy street in the Heights neighborhood.

Mayor Jim Strickland, Heights Community Development Corporation, City of Memphis Division of Engineering

New Brunswick, New Jersey “Unity Square Intersection” – Ground mural and safety improvements at one of the city’s busiest intersections in the Second Ward neighborhood.

Mayor James M. Cahill, City of New Brunswick Department of Planning, Community, and Economic Development, coLAB Arts

Newark, New Jersey “First Ward Intersection of Interconnectivity” – Underpass murals below the Broad Street rail station and highway bridges that divide downtown from residential neighborhoods.

Mayor Ras J. Baraka, City of Newark Division of Arts and Cultural Affairs, Project for Empty Space

Niagara Falls, New York “North End Triangle” – Crosswalk murals at three intersections near a library, school, and park in the North End

Mayor Robert M. Restaino, Niagara Falls National Heritage Area, City of Niagara Falls Department of Public Works

Providence, Rhode Island “Broad Street Cultural Corridor Plaza at Daboll and Public streets” – New plazas to help calm traffic and welcome pedestrians to the Via urban trail network.

Mayor Jorge O. Elorza, City of Providence Department of Art, Culture + Tourism, City of Providence Department of Public Works, Rhode Island Latino Arts, Providence Streets Coalition, Partnership for Providence Parks

San Juan, Puerto Rico “V Centenario - Pedestrian Welcome to Rio Piedras” – New crosswalks and an underpass mural at a roundabout that serves as the entrance to the Rio Piedras neighborhood.

Mayor Miguel Romero Lugo, Mayor’s Office of Federal Affairs, San Juan Department of Economic Development and Tourism, San Juan Department of Transportation, Colectivo de Arte Urbano

St. Louis, Missouri “Welcome to the West End Neighborhood” – Asphalt Art and Traffic Calming on Hodiament Ave and Hamilton Ave.

Mayor Tishaura Jones, City of St. Louis Planning and Urban Design, St. Louis Art Works

Starkville, Mississippi University Drive Corridor Connections

Mayor Lynn Spruill, Fred Carl Jr. Small Town Center, City of Starkville Engineering Department

Syracuse, New York Syracuse, NY: “City Hall Community Plaza Mural” – Transformation of a parking lot in front of City Hall into a community plaza.

Mayor Ben Walsh, City of Syracuse Department of Public Works, City of Syracuse Public Art Commission, ADAPT CNY

Tallahassee, Florida “Capital City Crosswalks in Greater Bond” – A series of crosswalk murals along the main thoroughfare near two parks and a school in the Greater Bond neighborhood.

Mayor John E. Dailey, City of Tallahassee Parks, Recreation, and Neighborhood Affairs Department, Council on Culture & Arts (COCA), Greater Bond Neighborhood Association

Tucson, Arizona “HeART of Downtown” – Murals and traffic calming elements at three intersections in Armory Park.

Mayor Regina Romero, City of Tucson Department of Transportation and Mobility, Living Streets Alliance

Wilmington, Delaware “Clifford Brown Walkway” – Installation of a new bike lane and street murals along a popular pedestrian zone in the Eastside neighborhood.

Mayor Michael S. Purzycki, Cityfest, Inc., City of Wilmington Mayor’s Office of Cultural Affairs, Flux Creative Consulting