Chemical Disasters Are Everywhere:

From 2017–2022, the Federal Railroad Administration reported 2,671 accidents involving trains carrying hazardous materials, including 1,126 accidents where train cars carrying hazardous materials were damaged, and at least 92 accidents that released hazardous materials.

In Louisiana, there were at least 85 reported accidents indicating hazmat cars were damaged and at least 2 incidents where hazardous materials were reported to be released as a result of an accident.

In Texas, there were at least 190 reported accidents indicating hazmat cars were damaged and 13 accidents where hazardous materials were reported to be released as a result of an accident.

In Ohio, there were at least 40 reported accidents indicating hazmat cars were damaged and at least 2 incidents where hazardous materials were reported to be released as a result of an accident.