	Requirement [Regulatory Reference]	Benchmark Family Information
(1)	General disclosure requirements The benchmark statement shall state: (a) the date of publication of the statement and, where applicable, the date of its last update; (b) where available, the international securities identification number (ISIN) of the benchmark or benchmarks; alternatively, for a family of benchmarks, the statement may provide details of where the ISINs are publicly accessible free of charge; (c) whether the benchmark, or any benchmark in the family of benchmarks, is determined using contributions of input data; (d) whether the benchmark or any benchmark in the family of benchmarks qualifies as one of the types of benchmarks listed under Title III of Regulation (EU) 2016/1011, including the specific provision by virtue of which the benchmark qualifies as that type. [RTS 1(1)]	Date of publication: June 2024 Date of last update: June 2024 BISL does not assign ISINs to all of the Indices. ISINs that have been assigned may be found at www.isindb.com/. Users should be aware that ISINs may have been obtained on the Indices by third parties and, in doing so, such third parties may have supplied inaccurate or incomplete information with regard to the underlying Index or may have obtained multiple ISINs for the same Index. Users should contact BISL if they have questions regarding the proper identification of its Indices. BISL does assign a unique Financial Instrument Global Identifier (“FIGI”) to its Indices. FIGIs may be found at https://openfigi.com/ by searching for the relevant Index within the family. The Indices do not utilize contributions of input data. None of the Indices are ‘regulated-data benchmarks’, ‘interest rate benchmarks’ or ‘commodity benchmarks’ as those terms are defined in the UK BMR. In addition, none of the Indices are ‘critical benchmarks’ or ‘significant benchmarks’ as those terms are defined in the UK BMR. All of the Indices would be deemed ‘non-significant’

(2)	The benchmark statement shall clearly and unambiguously define the market or economic reality measured by the benchmark and the circumstances in which such measurement may become unreliable. [BMR 27(1)(a)] In defining the market or economic reality, the benchmark statement shall include at least the following information: (a) a general description of the market or economic reality. (b) the geographical boundaries, if any, of the market or economic reality; (c) any other information that the administrator reasonably considers to be relevant or useful to help users or potential users of the benchmark to understand the relevant features of the market or economic reality, including at least the following elements insofar as reliable data on these elements is available: (i) information on actual or potential participants in the market; (ii) an indication of the size of the market or economic reality. [RTS 1(2)]	Market or economic reality measured by the benchmark family: The Indices offer a comprehensive set of fixed income benchmarks spanning the investment grade, high yield, inflation-linked, hard and local currency EM, municipal, and convertible bond markets. Product coverage is currently at more than 140,000 securities with over USD 85 trillion in market value representing over 120 countries and over 35 local currency debt markets. The base Bloomberg Fixed Income Index methodology (the “Base Methodology”) is available here. BISL publishes over 20,000 standard and bespoke indices, with more than 100,000 unique hedged and unhedged versions across different currencies daily. Bespoke or custom versions of the Indices are in general derived from and (except as otherwise customized) calculated and maintained in accordance with the Base Methodology. More details of the specific segment of the fixed income bond market measured by each index in the benchmark family can be found in the respective methodology for that index. The index methodologies can be found here. Market participants in the fixed income markets underlying the benchmarks mainly comprise of institutional investors, investment banks and broker-dealers. Participation of retail investors in the fixed income market is limited.
(3)	In defining the potential limitations of the benchmark and the circumstances in which the measurement of the market or economic reality may become unreliable, the	Risks & Limitations of the Indices Though the Indices are designed to be representative of the markets they measure or otherwise align with their stated objective, they may not be representative in every case or achieve their stated objective in all instances. They are designed and calculated strictly to follow the rules detailed in the methodology, and any index level or other output is limited in its usefulness to such design and calculation.

	benchmark statement shall include at least: (a) a description of the circumstances in which the administrator would lack sufficient input data to determine the benchmark in accordance with the methodology; (b) where relevant, a description of instances when the accuracy and reliability of the methodology used for determining the benchmark can no longer be ensured, such as when the administrator deems the liquidity in the underlying market as insufficient; (c) any other information that the administrator reasonably considers to be relevant or useful to help users and potential users to understand the circumstances in which the measurement of the market or economic reality may become unreliable, including a description of what might constitute an exceptional market event. [RTS 1(3)]
(4)	The benchmark statement shall lay down technical specifications that clearly and unambiguously identify the elements of the calculation of the benchmark in relation to which discretion may be exercised, the criteria applicable to the exercise of such discretion and the position of the persons that can exercise discretion, and how such discretion may be subsequently evaluated. [BMR 27(1)(b)]

Markets can be volatile, including those market interests which the Indices intend to measure or upon which the Indices are dependent in order to achieve their stated objective. For example, illiquidity can have an impact on the quality or amount of data available to BISL for calculation and may cause the Indices to produce unpredictable or unanticipated results.

In addition, market trends and changes to market structure may render the objective of the Indices unachievable or to become impractical to replicate by investors.

In particular, the Indices measure global fixed income markets. As with all fixed income investing, the Indices are exposed to interest rate risk. The value of bonds fluctuates with the changes in the interest rate policies established by central banks and the natural movement of rates over time. Bonds with optionality will also be impacted by interest rate volatilities. Most fixed income securities often trade at a spread to the base interest rate curve. The level of the spread reflects the additional premium an investor requires for taking the additional credit risk, liquidity risk, and other risks. The change of the spread, which reflects primarily the change in perceived risk of a security, comes from both common forces, affecting all bonds with similar characteristics, and information specific to a particular issuer. As the Indices are designed to measure those markets, its Indices could be materially impacted by market movements, thus significantly impacting the use or usefulness of the fixings for some or all users.

In addition, certain sub-indices may be designed to measure smaller subsets of the Indices such as specific sectors, maturities, or credit quality bands. Some of these sub-indices have very few qualifying constituents and may have none for a period of time. During such period, the relevant sub-index will continue to be published at its last value, effectively reporting a 0% return, until new constituents qualify. If no constituents are expected to qualify (due to changes in issuance trends and other factors), such sub-index may be discontinued. In such an event, this discontinuation will be announced to index users.

The Indices are rules-based, and their construction is designed to consistently produce values without the exercise of expert judgment or discretion under the standard methodology, in day-to-day index calculation. Nevertheless, BISL may use expert judgment or discretion in certain limited circumstances, with regards to the following:

- Extraordinary circumstances during a market emergency
- Interruptions, issues, and closures of data including input or non-input (e.g. ESG) data

Discretion refers to the right of BISL to make a determination in calculating a Benchmark with respect to its methodology. Expert judgement refers to the exercise of discretion with respect to the use of Input Data. Instances of discretion or expert judgement may include BISL making a decision to modify, derive or substitute input or non-input (e.g. ESG) data points according to what it considers suitable in a particular situation, in order to maintain Index constituents as set out in the methodology and ensure that the index continues to represent the market and economic reality that it seeks to measure, and the stated objectives of the index.

	In specifying the controls and rules that govern any exercise of judgement or discretion by the administrator or any contributors in calculating the benchmark or benchmarks, the benchmark statement shall include an outline of each step of the process for any ex-post evaluation of the use of discretion, together with a clear indication of the position of any person(s) responsible for carrying out the evaluations. [RTS 1(4)]	Discretion may be applied to (but not limited to) areas of index determination and may include actions such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Delaying or estimating the value of input or non-input data • Adjusting the benchmark methodology • Excluding or amending a constituent, input or non-input data • Mapping of non-input data, such as ESG data, to entities and sub-entities of index constituents / issuers When expert judgment or discretion is required, BISL seeks consistency in its application. BISL also maintains and enforces a conflicts of interest framework to prevent conflicts of interest from inappropriately influencing index construction, production, and distribution, including the use of expert judgment or discretion. In certain circumstances, exercises of expert judgment or discretion are reviewed by senior members of BISL management and Bloomberg Compliance teams, and are reported to the Product, Risk & Operations Committee (PROC), BISL's governance committee, which operates under the supervision of BISL's oversight function, the Benchmark Oversight Committee (BOC). See the section titled "Expert Judgment and Discretion" in the BISL Benchmark Procedures Handbook.
(5)	A benchmark statement shall contain at least the rationale for adopting the benchmark methodology and procedures for the review and approval of the methodology. [BMR27(2)(b)] In specifying the procedures for review of the methodology, the benchmark statement shall at least outline the procedures for public consultation on any material changes to the methodology. [RTS 1(5)] An administrator shall publish, together with the benchmark statement referred to in Article 27, a procedure concerning the actions to be taken by the administrator in the event of changes to or the cessation of a benchmark which may be used in the Union in accordance with Article 29(1). The procedure may be drafted,	The methodologies for the Indices are designed to provide a representative measure of a range of fixed income markets and size segments, maintaining a balance between broad market coverage and liquidity. Methodologies are constructed in such a way to ensure that the Indices are representative, transparent and replicable. The methodology approach incorporates a ruled-based calculation that has been designed to not require the exercise of discretion in its daily calculation process. Additionally, the methodology is subject to strict input data eligibility requirements to ensure its replicability and resilience. The index methodologies are designed such that they are able to offer indices in various size and regional segmentations that can be used for benchmark purposes by a wide set of users and rebalanced on a scheduled basis to ensure representativeness. For further detail on the procedures for the review and approval of methodologies, the procedures for public consultation on materials changes and the process for cessation, see the Benchmark and Methodology Launch & Changes and Cessation Policy sections of the BISL Benchmark Procedures Handbook. Index Advisory Councils (IACs) IACs are composed of key market participants and stakeholders from BISL's perspective to assist BISL in setting index priorities, to discuss potential rules changes (including material changes) and to provide ideas for new products. IACs are generally constituted on an annual basis. While potential benchmark changes are discussed through this process, all feedback received is non-binding and all final decisions on benchmark index rules are made by BISL after the review period has ended. Note that any material changes will be subject to a consultation as set out in the Benchmark and Methodology Launch & Changes section of the BISL Benchmark Procedures Handbook.

	where applicable, for families of benchmarks and shall be updated and published whenever a material change occurs. [BMR28(1)]
(6)	The benchmark statement shall provide notice of the possibility that factors, including external factors beyond the control of the administrator, may necessitate changes to, or the cessation of the benchmark. [BMR 27(1)(c)]	Users should be aware that factors, including external factors beyond the control of BISL, may necessitate changes to, or the cessation of the Indices or components thereof. For example, markets measured by the Indices may undergo structural changes which may affect the liquidity of underlying constituents of the Indices. In addition, regulatory changes can adversely impact the effectiveness of methodology design.
(7)	The benchmark statement shall advise users that changes to, or the cessation of, the benchmark may have an impact upon the financial contracts and financial instruments that reference the benchmark or the measurement of the performance of investment funds. [BMR 27(1)(d)]	If financial product issuers or investment managers choose to use one of the Indices as the basis of an index-linked financial product or an investment fund, they should consider the possibility that factors, including external factors, may necessitate changes to, or the cessation of the Indices or components thereof, including the potential need to terminate or modify the terms of a financial product resulting from the termination of the calculation of one or more of the Indices
(8)	A benchmark statement shall contain at least the definitions for all key terms relating to the benchmark. [BMR 27(2)(a)]	All key terms and other relevant information are set forth in the methodologies for the Indices available here.
(9)	The administrator shall review and, where necessary, update the benchmark statement for each benchmark or family of benchmarks in the event of any changes to the information to be provided under this Article and at least every two years. [BMR 27(1)] In addition to the cases referred to in the third subparagraph of Article 27(1) of	BISL shall review this Statement on a periodic basis, at least once every two years. BISL will also review and, if determined necessary, update this Statement in the event of any material changes to the information provided herein, and whenever the information contained herein ceases to be correct or sufficiently precise including whenever there is a change in the type of the benchmark or a material change in the methodology.

	Regulation (EU) 2016/1011, an update of the benchmark statement shall be required whenever the information contained in the statement ceases to be correct or sufficiently precise, and including in any event in the following cases: (a) whenever there is a change in the type of the benchmark; (b) whenever there is a material change in the methodology used for determining the benchmark or, if the benchmark statement is for a family of benchmarks, in the methodology used for determining any benchmark within the family of benchmarks. [RTS 6]
(10)	A benchmark statement shall contain at least the criteria and procedures used to determine the benchmark, including a description of the input data, the priority given to different types of input data, the minimum data needed to determine a benchmark, the use of any models or methods of extrapolation and any procedure for rebalancing the constituents of a benchmark's index. [BMR 27(2)(c)]	Description of the Input Data The input data used are official prices of the underlying fixed income assets per the relevant methodology documents. Most constituents are priced using Bloomberg's own evaluated pricing service, BVAL, with certain limited asset classes priced by third party sources. The high quality of index pricing is maintained by employing a variety of statistical techniques applied on day-to-day movements and point-in-time levels using tolerance bands set at the issuer, sector, quality and maturity levels. Possible outliers resulting from the verification process are resolved by the index team dedicated to pricing validation. Index users may also challenge price levels, which are then reviewed by the pricing team. If a discrepancy arises, prices may be adjusted on a going forward basis. Priority of Input Data There is no type of input data which is given priority over another. Minimum data needed to determine a Benchmark Minimum data requirements are set out in the methodology documents. Constituent Selection As described under "Market or economic reality measured by the benchmark family" in row (2) above, the indices are based on flagship Bloomberg benchmarks which constitute the universe of eligible securities. Data Extrapolation The Indices are produced without the interpolation or extrapolation of input data.

Rebalancing

Most Indices are rebalanced monthly, offering intra-month stability in Index composition. Securities that meet all published Index inclusion rules and eligibility criteria at the beginning of a given month will remain in the Index for purposes of return calculations until the following month-end, when index composition is next reset.

For each Index, two universes of securities are maintained: one that is held constant throughout the month from the previous Index rebalancing date and one that changes daily to reflect the latest composition of the market since the last rebalancing. The former, the "Returns Universe" (also referred to as the "backwards" universe), is a static set of securities that is determined at the beginning of each month and is not reset until the beginning of the next month. This fixed universe is used to calculate daily, and monthly index returns and is the basket of bonds against which Index users are officially measured against. The Returns Universe is not adjusted for securities that become ineligible for inclusion during the month (e.g., due to ratings downgrades, called bonds, securities falling below one year to maturity, etc.) or for issues that are newly eligible (e.g., ratings changes, new issuance, etc.). Because the Returns Universe is held constant throughout the month, fund managers avoid having to hit a moving target. The "Projected Universe" (or "forward" universe) is a dynamic set of bonds that changes daily to reflect the latest set of Index-eligible securities. As an up-to-date projection of the next month's Returns Universe, the Projected Universe assists active managers by providing them with the necessary insight to modify their portfolios ahead of any Index changes and assists passive managers by preparing them for any executions needed ahead of monthly rebalancing. Indicative changes to securities are reflected daily in both the Projected and Returns Universes of the Index and may cause bonds to enter or fall out of the Projected Universe, but will affect the composition of the Returns Universe only at month-end.
